

GUITARISTS WANTED

Resonance is a London alternative rock band with soulful vocals, blues riffs and classic rock energy. Following an EP release in Nov 2012, Resonance has played some 35 gigs in 2013 – in London and internationally.

We are looking to add an additional GUITARIST to the line-up. In addition to gigging with us, there will be opportunities for further involvement, including in the next record. We're looking for someone with:

- talent, excellent guitar playing ability, and a tasteful playing style
- commitment to the band
- positive attitude, confidence, and a 'making things happen' approach
- ability to take directions
- professionalism, including punctuality, responsiveness, keeping your word
- thorough preparation in advance of rehearsals

If you're interested, please send an e-mail with details to readytosayhello@gmail.com, including links and sound samples. Auditions will be held and we'll send you songs to learn by ear.
